

This archive serves as the presentation of an ongoing research project titled ROHN25G.

Specifically, this project centers in on, and branches out from a specific ROHN25G HAM radio tower.

This tower acts as a catalyst of relationships outside of the physical object in and of itself.

HAM radio as a relationship-driven and a relationship-driving communicative form.